Fresh Food

ROY Luppino might have only been managing Harris Farm at North Strathfield for three months, but he's been in the fruit-and-veg business for more than 16 years. While the store has been a finalist in the awards several times, this is its first year as a winner and Mr Luppino confesses to being very excited to be the manager at such a time.

"We like to look after our customers and make sure everything's fresh," he said. "Customers are always telling me the store looks magic and they love coming in here."

Trades and Services

FLOORMANIA in Concord is a third-time winner in the truelocal Business Awards.

John Elasi, who owns the business with his brother Joe, feels that their success is in providing customers with a quality service.

"We deliver consistently good quality work and good customer service," he said. "We get a lot of referral work where we're recommended by customers - and we get a lot of return customers, too."

After three years of trading, the brothers have just opened a second location.

Fitness/Sport

G Fitness at Rhodes has only been open for 18 months but has still managed to gather many enthusiastic members as well as this year's award for the Fitness category.

Club director Paul Gill is proud of G Fitness's achievements in such a short time.

"It's a fantastic result and it's great to get external recognition for all the hard work," he said.

"We provide a very high level of service to help clients get better results, but we've also tried to establish the feel that this is their local fitness club."

A FIRST-TIME winner in the truelocal Business Awards, Sofie Papamakarios has been overwhelmed by the recognition.

While Ms Papamakarios has only owned Diva Face and Body at Strathfield for just over a year, she has a sure-fire recipe for success.

"When clients come here it's mostly only myself and them so it's peaceful and relaxing," she said.

"They can have a chat and relax - it's a personal experience that they get."

Ms Papamakarios has many clients who come to her because they're referred by other happy customers.

"You just have to make sure to be the same person with all your clients and just be yourself," she said.
