CONGRATULATIONS

I would like to congratulate the guys from Floormania, one of our newest members, on receiving two Small Business Awards recently.

Having celebrated their first birthday on August 26, Floormania won the Inner West Sydney Small Business award for Best Business and Best New Business against 150 other nominations in the area.

■ John and Joe Elasi from Floormania are delighted by their Small Business Awards, quite an achievement considering the business has only been in operation for 12 months.

This family owned operation is run by brothers John and Joe Elasi - "and Mum does the bookwork".

They have a modern timber flooring showroom on Parramatta Road, Concord, subcontracting all the installation work.

Joe informs the Elasi family have been in the flooring industry for 60 years, concentrating on carpet, vinyl and floating floors.

He and John decided to concentrate on solid timber flooring, and from all accounts - just 12 months on - their decision was a good one.

They are both young and probably the most enthusiastic people I have come across in business - best wishes for the future from all at TABMA.

The Houses of the future exhibition continue to attract attention at Sydney Olympic Park.

There have been over 18 000 visitors through the exhibition since it opened in February.
